Carrots	3-4 medium (about 200 g total)
Shallots	3 medium (about 60 g total)
Potatoes	6 small (about 200 g total)
Chickpeas	15-oz (425 g) can
TVP	1 rounded cup (104 g)
Cauliflower	2 cups (214 g)
Green peas, frozen	1 cup (134 g)
Coconut milk, light	13.5-oz can (383 g)
Vegetable broth, low-sodium	1 ½ cups (332 g)
Liquid aminos	2 tbsp (32 g)
Peanut butter powder	4 tbsp (32 g)
Coriander, ground	1 tsp (1 g)
Cumin, ground	1 tsp (2 g)
Red curry paste	4 tsp (28 g)
Stevia (optional)	1 small packet

INSTRUCTIONS FOR 4 SERVINGS

There are two ways to make this batch of curry. The slow cooker version will save you some time, but the version made on the stove uses fresher ingredients. As you prepare to begin, be sure to choose one or the other.

SLOW COOKER VERSION

1. Start by dicing the following vegetables:
   - [ ] 3-4 medium carrots (about 200 g total)
   - [ ] 3 shallots (about 60 g total)
   - [ ] 6 small potatoes (about 200 g)

2. Then, put the carrots, shallots, and potatoes into a slow cooker along with the following ingredients for 4 hours on high heat:
   - [ ] 13.5-oz (383 g) can of light coconut milk
   - [ ] 15-oz (425 g) can of chickpeas (drained and rinsed)*
   - [ ] 1 rounded cup (104 g) of TVP
   - [ ] 2 cups (214 g) of frozen cauliflower
   - [ ] 1 cup (134 g) of frozen green peas
   - [ ] 1 ½ cups (332 g) of low-sodium vegetable broth
   - [ ] 2 tbsp (32 g) of liquid aminos
   - [ ] 4 tbsp (32 g) of peanut butter powder
   - [ ] 4 tsp (28 g) of red curry paste
   - [ ] Juice from 1 lime (44 g)
   - [ ] 1 stevia packet (optional)
3. Then, add the following spices:
   - [ ] 1 tsp (2 g) of ground cumin
   - [ ] 1 tsp (1 g) of ground coriander
   - [ ] ½ tsp (1 g) of cinnamon
   - [ ] ½ tsp (1 g) of ground cardamom
   - [ ] ¼ tsp (1 g) of ground nutmeg
4. Stir occasionally over the next few hours.
5. After 4 hours have passed, turn the slow cooker off or utilize the warming feature if you plan to eat it immediately. ●

FRESH INGREDIENT VERSION

1. Start by chopping up 3 shallots (about 60 g total). Then, place them in a pot on the stove to sauté over medium heat.
2. Add the following spices to the same pot:
   - [ ] 1 tsp (1 g) of ground coriander
   - [ ] 1 tsp (2 g) of ground cumin
   - [ ] 4 tsp (28 g) of red curry paste
3. While those ingredients sauté, chop up the following vegetables and add them to the pot as well:
   - [ ] 6 small potatoes (about 200 g)
   - [ ] 3-4 medium carrots (about 200 g total)
   - [ ] 2 cups (214 g) of fresh cauliflower
4. Stir the vegetables into the seasonings to coat them thoroughly.

⚠ * You will use the aquafaba from this can of chickpeas in the oatmeal.

 You can use 1 medium onion (110 g) instead of shallots if you prefer.

5 Drain and rinse a 15-oz (425 g) can of chickpeas. Again, remember that our oatmeal recipe calls for the aquafaba from the can of chickpeas, so be sure not to waste it. Add the chickpeas to the pot.

6 Then, add the following ingredients:

- [ ] 13.5-oz (383 g) can of light coconut milk
- [ ] 1 rounded cup (104 g) of TVP
- [ ] 2 cups (214 g) of frozen cauliflower
- [ ] 1 cup (134 g) of frozen green peas
- [ ] 1 ½ cups (332 g) of low-sodium vegetable broth
- [ ] 2 tbsp (32 g) of liquid aminos
- [ ] 4 tbsp (32 g) of peanut butter powder
- [ ] ½ tsp (1 g) of cinnamon
- [ ] ½ tsp (1 g) of ground cardamom
- [ ] ¼ tsp (1 g) of ground nutmeg
- [ ] Juice from 1 lime (44 g)
- [ ] 1 stevia packet (optional)

7 Stir the contents of the pot, bring it a low boil over medium-high heat, and let it simmer until the vegetables are tender.

8 When it's time to eat, enjoy each serving of curry alongside ½ cup (101 g) of the cooked brown rice you made earlier. ●
